DETAILS:

Internationally acclaimed motivational speaker, Keith L. Brown, will present a Parent Community workshop, "Not Impossible/I'm Possible," Tuesday, Jan. 26, Dunedin Highland Middle and Tuesday, Feb. 2, Dixie Hollins High, both from 6:30-8 p.m.

These free events for parents, students, teachers, and community leaders will encourage communities and schools to work as one. Brown also will show how fostering high expectations in the home will inspire students to achieve. He will show how to communicate effectively with youth and how the negative effects of media exploitation affect our youth.

Early in life, Keith L. Brown was identified as a "Special Ed" and "At Risk" student, primarily because he talked too much, was too hyper, and wanted to give "all the answers." Keith L. Brown has turned these "labels" into a positive, enrichment workshop that will help parents and teachers to help children.

Brown has been a legislative liaison and professional speechwriter since 2000; he is author of the award winning book, "CHITLINS" (Creative Helpful Intuitive Thoughts Lifting Individuals Naturally Seeking). His first children's book, "Not Impossible – I'm Possible: The Inspiring Story of Saggin Sam," is a literary tool of hope for children, teachers and parents.
