Pumpkin Patch

If your child is between the ages of 4 to 12 and has experienced a trauma, he or she may qualify to receive therapy through a research study.

The purpose of this research study is to develop and test a child trauma treatment that's easy to manage for parents and kids while being effective in helping your child.

Examples of traumas:

- ☐ Disasters
- ☐ Sexual abuse
- ☐ Physical abuse
- ☐ Domestic violence
- ☐ Serious illness or very frightening medical experience
- ☐ Serious accidents, such as car wrecks
- ☐ Being involved in a crime such as robbery
- ☐ Death of someone close
- ☐ Seeing someone get hurt really badly

These types of traumatic events may cause children to have posttraumatic stress symptoms such as:

- ☐ Irritable, angry and has temper tantrums
- ☐ Stomach aches and/or headaches
- ☐ Plays less than before
- ☐ Gets very upset if something happens that reminds them of the trauma
- ☐ More aggressive (fighting, hitting, biting, shoving)
- ☐ Difficulty sleeping and/or nightmares
- ☐ Looks less happy and is less loving
- ☐ More jumpy and scared

All children in this study will receive therapy. Compensation will be provided for completing assessments. Parents and children from any state or county may participate. In Hillsborough County call the Crisis Center of Tampa Bay at 813-264-9955

In Pinellas County call the University of South Florida St. Petersburg Family Study Center at 727-767-4615

This research is conducted under the direction of Dr. Alison Salloum, University of South Florida, School of Social Work. IRB# (Pro00022129). Study title: Stepped Care for Children after Trauma: Optimizing Treatment.
