

AP Literature and Composition

Summer Reading Selections—Countryside High School 2019-2020

All students registered for AP Literature and Composition are required to read the two selections listed below over the course of the summer.

AP Literature 2019-20	How to Read Literature Like a Professor (Revised Edition)	By Thomas C. Foster	978-0-06-230167-3
	Oedipus Rex (Oedipus Rex is an Ancient Greek tragedy, also translated as Oedipus the King , and is one of the three Theban Plays by Sophocles.)	By Sophocles	978-029928254-7 This edition is a verse translation by David Mulroy, with introduction and notes.

Closely read and annotate the texts; come prepared to discuss the selections and continue an in-depth study of the works that will include written assignments, tests, and Socratic Seminar. Our use of How to Read Literature like a Professor as a reference text will continue throughout the year.

Feel free to email Ms. Hunter at hunterdu@pcsb.org with any questions.

I look forward to seeing you in AP Literature!
