ABOUT US

As an authorized International Baccalaureate® (IB) World School since 2007, learning about the world comes alive by stimulating curiosity and inquiry, fostering a spirit of discovery and enjoyment of learning. IB students embrace their own culture and become open and responsive to other cultures and views. Our curriculum framework centers around student inquiry, where teachers and students find connections among all subjects including the arts. This approach fosters knowledgeable and caring young people, supports reflective practice and inspires “taking action” to make the world a better place. The philosophy and practice of this international program encourages a more peaceful world by helping children become responsible global citizens.

TRANSDISCIPLINARY PROGRAMME OF INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION

The International Baccalaureate® (IB) offers high quality, challenging programmes of international education to a worldwide community of schools. The aim of all IB programmes is to develop citizens of the world who celebrate what we have in common across the continents and respect the differences across all cultures. At Sanderlin, this philosophy of teaching and learning comes alive throughout our beautiful, engaging campus and classrooms and within each child as we embrace the ten traits of the IB Learner Profile.

Our instructional approach reflects real life experiences by encouraging learning within and beyond traditional subject areas (languages, humanities, sciences, mathematics and the arts) with meaningful, in-depth inquiries into relevant local, community and worldwide issues. Starting in PreK, IB themes of global significance are explored each year with our goal of developing inquiring, knowledgeable and caring young people who want to make a difference in making the world a better and more peaceful place for all.

With an interest in building children’s ability to think deeply and critically at all ages, many schoolwide learning strategies are emphasized. “Thinking codes” allow students to gain a deeper understanding of the topics they study at each grade level. Teaching students to ask “quality questions” helps them explore connections between subjects such as math and science, as well as application to real world situations. Our literacy-rich classrooms includes a wide range of literature that encourages differing perspectives of stories through discussions and questioning. At all grade levels, students develop basic Spanish skills and explore different cultures. Specialists in Art, Music, and P.E. promote imagination, communication, creativity and original thinking, further strengthening our IB curriculum.

Our educational approach emphasizes learning opportunities for individual and collaborative planning and research among students and teachers alike. This helps build a strong foundation for being reflective about our own progress and goals, taking
