STEP 2 If you’re dependent, which parent(s) need an FSA ID?

If parents are married:

If parents are married and file taxes together, one parent will need an FSA ID.

If parents are married but don’t file taxes together, both parents will need an FSA ID.

If parents unmarried living together:

If parents are unmarried and live together, both parents will need an FSA ID.

The FAFSA considers the student’s parent to be their legal (biological or adoptive) parent.

If parents are divorced or separated not living together:

If parents are divorced or separated not living together, the parent who provided more financial support in the last 12 months will need an FSA ID. If support equal, then parent with highest income/assets.

If remarried, and parent and stepparent didn’t file taxes together, both parent and stepparent will need FSA IDs.
