A Message to my Students

Wow! How things have changed in a few short weeks. I debated on whether to continue this newsletter but decided I wanted to continue to reach out to everyone. Students, please know that even though the library is physically closed, I am still here to support you. I am in the process of creating a virtual library in Teams where you can still visit to get more information about how to access e-books, find resources, get tech help, and ask me questions as you are navigating your classes. However, I cannot help you print. 😊 Please take care of yourself during this time. This is nothing like any of us have seen in our lifetimes and you are not alone. If you need help, please reach out through Teams or my email is groshansa@pcsb.org. I cannot wait to greet you all at the doors of the library. Until that time stay home, stay safe, and stay strong. No matter where you are, you are Osceola Warriors!

A Message to Teachers

Like the song from Waitress says, “everything changes” and everything has changed very quickly. I just wanted to reach out to you to let you know that I am still here as a resource for you. If you are looking for specific resources or just general lessons about online resources for you or your students, please let me know. I can also offer PD for your PLC’s. If I don’t know about it, I can research and help find you possible solutions. After all, librarians are professional “snoopers.” I will also be sharing with you the code for the Virtual Library. Please share this code and newsletter with your students. Thank you all for being so amazing and supporting our students right now!
