

AP Language and Composition

Welcome to our world of words! To explore this world, over the summer we will communicate via our class blog. You will need to create a user name of your last name first initial at:

<http://herzhauser.proboards.com/>. On the homepage, you will notice a space for Advanced Placement Language and Composition. I posted a variety of forums for you to read and respond to during the summer. You will create an original thread for each of the forums and respond to two other posts by a classmate for each forum. We will read Ladies of Liberty by Cokie Roberts. We will blog about the writing style, elements of text, voice, vocabulary, tone, rhetorical triangle, and other fun aspects of language. You will be graded on your participation in the summer blogs.
