Aetna Members - It matters now more than ever
Making health care a priority is important—especially during a pandemic. But with so much focus on COVID-19, you may have been putting off important doctor visits and other care, even if you are living with chronic conditions that need attention.

So how can you keep moving forward on your path to better health? Aetna® recently launched the #TimeForCare campaign to assist you with your care needs, especially if you’re facing a chronic condition or an emotional issue, or if you are pregnant. Because it’s always important to make time for you — and make #TimeForCare.

Protecting school kids in the “new normal”
Whether it’s virtual learning or back to the classroom, while the change of pace can make you shout cheers or shed tears, family wellness will be more important than ever. It’s important to consider illness prevention and how you’ll handle health problems when they come up.

As schedules shift and we all get used to the “new normal,” your trusted Teladoc doctors can provide fast, convenient care 24/7 from home for non-emergency conditions like viruses, allergies and infections. Set up your account now and find out more about how we can help resolve your needs on your terms.
