State Provides Educators Professional Liability Insurance for Instructional Staff

Pinellas County Schools' general liability insurance covers all employees from claims arising from alleged "wrongful acts" under certain terms and conditions. The state also provides full-time instructional personnel with $2 million of Educators Professional Liability Insurance. The district's coverage is the primary coverage and the state's coverage will apply if claims exceed PCS coverage. Employees do not have to enroll to be covered by the district's plan, and instructional staff do not have to enroll to be covered under the state's plan, these coverages are automatic.

Additional information about the Educator's Professional Liability insurance, including a list of frequently asked questions and a copy of the current policy, can be found on the Florida Department of Education website and the Pinellas County Schools' website.
