Icy Snowman's Bounce Prevails In Gym Tonight

Tonight is one of the major social events of the year, the Snowman's Bounce. This dance, a project of the junior class, will, within hours, prove to be a very popular event.

Although the decorations in the gym will be "icy," the atmosphere will certainly not be as will be seen as Northeast girls whirl about in their beautiful red, yellow, blue, green, lavender, and various other shades of semi-formal finery.

The price of one dollar per person will be put to good use in that it will go towards the junior-senior prom, the major project of the junior class.

Don't miss out on one of Northeast's most popular social events, the Snowman's Bounce, sponsored by the junior class.

Betty Crocker Contest Offer Fabulous Awards

The Betty Crocker Homemaker Contest is a search for the Homemaker of Tomorrow. The award is made on the basis of an objective test for which senior girls may sign up in the homemaker department.

The test is administered by the guidance department and will be given this year on December 5th. The winner will receive a pin at the Awards Assembly, and her work will be considered for the state contest. The top ten per cent of the winners in the state will then go on to the national competition.

The top prize in the state is a $1500 scholarship, and each state winner will take a five day tour of New York, Williamsburg, and Washington. The national prizes are scholarships of $5000, first prize; $4000, second prize; $3000, third prize; and $2000, fourth prize. Each girl who participates in the contest gains a practical knowledge of home-making as well as a career for the Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Amusement - Savory Food - Entertainment To Highlight Vike Swim Pool Carnival

Amusement, savory food, and titillating entertainment will mark Saturday, December 9th as a red letter day! The festivities of the Swim Pool Carnival will commence at 3:00 P.M. and Northeast High will literally "swing" in true carnival fashion until 8:30 P.M.

"Fun for a cause" will be the key phrase for the day. As we all know, Northeast is quite near the designated amount of money it needs before construction can begin on the proposed Olympic-size swimming pool. The pool will be a beneficial asset to the entire community because when it is not being used by the schools, it will be open to the general public. It is very possible that if the complete student body and its families support the carnival in the genuine Viking spirit, the pool fund might be increased enough so that building could begin. We cannot shirk our duty and let our school lose faith in us. It is the obligation of every Northeast student to get out and patronize this carnival which was designed and is to be presented in behalf of the swimming pool fund. The fate of a structure which will be of service to anyone who is interested in it, depends largely on the cooperation of us—the student body.

Carnivals possess a certain air of excitement about them. Suddenly you find yourself past the gates and thrown into a kaleidoscope of gaudy colors, clamorous noises, and the mixed smells of popcorn, hot dogs, candied apples, and perspiration on a warm afternoon. From the moment you set foot anywhere near a carnival you seem to be riding on one gigantic merry-go-round.

There is so much to see and so much to do. Most people have an extremely difficult job deciding

by Joe Lettelleir

With December comes the advent of the 1961-62 Hoop season at Northeast High.

The basketballers of Northeast High School will open their 1961-62 season against the Hurricanes of Manatee High School, December 8, at 8 P.M. in the Viking gym.

Hampered by lack of experience the Vikes will depend mostly on players from the 1960-61 Pinellas County championship junior varsity team. These boys will be braced by seven substitutes from last season's varsity team. The berths on this year's squad have not been settled, and competition is keen as each player fights for a position on the squad.

A twelve man varsity squad will be picked from the following candidates before game time: Rob Amley 6'-4", Dennis Ferry 5'-9", Jim Larson 5'-9", Richard Coddling 5'-10", Bruce Smith 5'-11", Tom Sacha 6'-2", Gary Smith 5'-8", Steve Bick 5'-10", John Costello 5'-11", Ed Nousiainen 6'-1", Bruce Spooner 6'-1", Mark Hamilton 6'-1", Nick Mignone 6'-1", Harold Wells 6'-2", Bud Protensky 6'-2", and Ed Stumpf 6'-2".

Manatee will enter the game with a squad composed of seven lettermen and a fine crop up from last year's junior varsity team. Northeast beat Manatee last year 62-57 by throttling all-conference center Jim Refcheson who was lost by graduation.

This game should be a nip and tuck battle with Manatee's experience battling the Vikes' great team speed and solid depth. Because of the keen rivalry between the two schools a capacity crowd is expected for the opening tussle.

Viking Basketball lettermen not returning from last year are Jim Andringa, playing varsity at Florida Southern College; Tom Fisher, a varsity player at St. Petersburg Junior College; Skip Cutting, in the United States Marine Corps; Steve Wickland, attending Tulane University; and Richard Grant, attending Davidson College.

Coach Lee Benjamin says, "Although we will miss these graduates we have high hopes that this year's candidates will more than make up for their loss."

MARK HAMILTON

NeHi's own Mark Hamilton was the recipient of the J. E. Saltz award to the most outstanding teen age boy in St. Petersburg. Mark is a junior and a halfback on the football squad. He competed with other teens throughout the city in the contest. These students were nominated by their principles or coaches for the award. These nominees were judged by their service to the home, school and church. Excelling in all of these, Mark was chosen, and received the award at the St. Pete-Dixie Hollins football game.

DO SOMETHING ABOUT YOUR DREAM TODAY!

Be A Special Person Seek Your Ambition

by Candy Jones

Another, the desire to go about in the world in a quality that should be held in high esteem. However, ambition in empty terms is accompanied by the wrong kind of initiative. When these two properties are functioning simultaneously, the chances are very good that the end result will be success.

of education. Do something about those dreams immediately. At Northeast the majority of students have made definite plans and efforts for the coming year. This is undoubtedly a good sign. Among those students, who should be commended is Barbara Bailey. This young lady has gone a step further than most students in planning her future occupation. Barbara is now the manager and teacher of her own dance studio for children.

Barbara, having had twelve years of instruction, decided to give experience through actual learning. In the summer almost two years ago she started instructing young people in the art of the dance.

But that Barbara's students will become grown-ups, she never halts, dancing. Her students have all grown up. Barbara says she has learned to respect her own teachers after finding out how difficult and not here that way. To teach that class it takes untold patience to control a class from four to sixteen years of age. Barbara realizes that a child's first teacher can influence his appreciation for dancing in the future. Therefore, it is of utmost importance to help these children develop a true interest for dancing right from the start through careful guidance and understanding. Barbara says, "When you see one of your pupils give a good performance, it makes all the work worthwhile."

EXAMINE YOURSELF

With all these points in mind, let us examine ourselves. How many of us are like Barbara? It is time to be thinking of a future career. Don't be misled in the future and find yourself out of school with only a few loose dollars to show for twelve years.

TYPICAL DAY

A typical day at Barbara's dance studio goes something like this. The day begins with her students arriving by practicing the steps which are going to learn. The instructor must know every routine inside and out before she can teach it effectively. Then the class, chatter, and greetings of her students. It is not hard to detect the approach of her first group of year olds, by the rattling of their tap shoes. Over the noise comes a voice, "Ready for ballet!" The noise ceases and the class begins. As they run through each number, these little dancers dressed in black leotards and tights, watch their teacher in hopes to be on the next step of the work that has been well done.

When the final segment of their lesson comes slowly to a close, in pop several eager four year olds. From the noise comes more routine, but it is quickly halted by Barbara. Before the actual lesson begins, she must listen to all the latest news from her pupils. The little children delight in telling Barbara about birthday parties they have attended or new clothes they have received. Once the chatter is out of the way, the lesson begins with only a few minor interruptions from the students.

After their lesson is completed, a new group of five and six year olds, full of vim and vigor, arrives at Barbara's dance studio. It is very surprising to see the sudden burst of energy from the students when the music is turned on to a ball. When something comes up their request is not put off. If you would feel the same way if you could see them perform, their routines vary from the ordinary to the unusual. To complete her routine, she uses anything from the "modern" moves of "Aptara" to the well known favorite, "The Old Soft Shoe." All of Barbara's routines are her original ideas. Therefore, she has the right to a good teacher and dancer, but a fine choreographer as well. Barbara spends hours designing steps, perfecting them, and simplifying them for her younger students. Her little "angel" can convert her lovely steps into a confused, awkward mess of nothingness. Gradually the routine improves until they look as good as when they were taught originally.

LEARN PEOPLE

You have a lot of people who are able to grasp each step quickly and to show style and grace as early as the first lesson. Few are not ready for it can kill an individual's love for dancing. Yet, a little coaxing never does any harm. When a child is young, he isn't really aware of what he wants to do. Encouraging should be a part of everyone's cultural education.

QUEEN JEANIE....

Vike Jeanie Beckman Crowned Homecoming Queen

by Sherry Macke and Mary Jo Roper

Homecoming festivities began with the annual luncheon Friday night. Gathered around the blazing fire were throngs of Vikings and loyal alumni all anticipating the big night. The glow illuminated by the fire displayed faces with red uniforms, red and white uniforms, and red and white uniforms.

The members of the Homecoming Court were then presented to the students. As each name was called, the parade across the platform smiling radiantly.

The music for the evening was provided by selected members of the band. Twirling intricate routines with fire lanterns were the Vikings' major feature.

When the fire began to smolder, all students went in the upcoming night, Homecoming '61. From Bob Kaufman's opening kick-off to the final seconds of play, the Vikings' Homecoming game was an episode of thrill after thrill. Each team member fought hard and well and the crowd of spectators, whether returning alumni or present students, was united behind them. Cheers of encouragement and words of support were offered to the night.

The Vikings, in their red and white uniforms, were the powerful Dragoonians. The stadium, illuminated in red and white, was even more decorated by the Homecoming Court. Seated on the sides, the nine Viking cheerleaders and their escorts were afforded a first hand view of the Northeast-Lakehead battle.

In the seats, former NE students were greeted by old friends who had not seen in months. The Vikings' red and white uniforms were generally spotted through the stands. The cheering of the Vikings' fans added a rhythmic note to the excitement of the evening.

During the half-time, Lakeland's band, with each member dressed in bright orange costumes, performed a rapid routine called the "Pompotop Swing." Each carried a pom-pom and the group danced and drilled with the light

SPORTS DESK — BASKETBALL BEGINS —

by Joe Lathrop

The game of basketball has changed tremendously from the peach basket of 1891 to the modern rim and floorball basketball of today. Under Dr. James Naismith the game saw its beginning in a Twelve of the 13 rules that Dr. Naismith laid down still are basic, although the game itself has changed vastly. Basketball is much faster than it used to be even a few years back and it has come a long way from the days when it was chiefly a "putt" sport played in basement gymnasiums. The speed has been brought about by rule changes, including the elimination of the center jump after each foul. The rule forbidding continuous, but basketball remains a game in which teamwork, agility, and speed rather than strength, fast punting, and accuracy are fundamental. The ball hasn't changed much in many years, but the number of players to a side, although larger numbers have been used.

Basketball is the only game devised in the United States with no roots in the sports of other nations. It has fought for and has won its place in the sports of other nations. GEORGE STOVALL August 26, 1944, was a memorable day for the Stovall family. Arriving in Tampa was George Jr. Before coming to Northeast, George attended Mirror Lake and Meadowlawn Junior High but rates NeHi the best.

He may be found throughout the day in English IV, study hall, economics, office, genetics, and French II. After a trying day of school George can be found bettering himself on the practice field. The Guns of Navarone rates as his favorite movie while Secret Ways heads the book list. Another favorite of George's is to find a hole in the defense. On the list of dislikes the ride home from an away game is tops. Now that football is over best of luck in swimming, George.

"Of Such Is The Kingdom . . ."

by Linnea Porter, R.N.

A young girl in a crisp blue and white striped uniform and a young man wearing dark trousers with a white shirt walk up to the switchboard of the American Legion Hospital. They ask for the nurse in charge, sign the register and await assignments to various wards. The young man will report to the Head Nurse of the boys' ward and the young lady to the girls' ward or nursery. They are "ON DUTY."

Thus some of the high school members of the Red Cross are assuming their responsibilities to their community. They are doing volunteer work in the field they like best.

"Hi, Ruby!" "Come read to me, Barbara!" "Hey, help me into my wheel chair, Pete!" are calls heard as these young people walk down the halls. They soon become familiar faces and dear friends of all the patients.

"Will you help me eat, please?" asks a six year old blond girl whose plump little face is a shade whiter today. "I can't eat by myself because the doctor put these on my hands today," she explains holding up two little hands encased in white plaster.

These young volunteers, who are at least 17 years of age, are members of the Red Cross of their respective schools. Each school has a teacher sponsor and each group a student chairman. Mrs. Reginald DeKoven is current co-ordinator between the schools, Red Cross and Hospital. At the beginning of each school year orientation classes are held at the hospital and in the class rooms using handbooks to explain duties, conduct and responsibilities. Schedules are formulated assigning days for each school. The chairman for that school assigns students and their hours.

Despite class schedules, studying, social activities, these dependable, responsible youngsters gave 1409 invaluable hours—or 176 working days to our hospital and its little patients during 1960. Immeasurable is their value to us and our appreciation for them.

HOMEcoming

After the game the Homecoming Dance was the scene of gay congratulations for the Queen and her Court, as well as the place for more fun and excitement. Decorated in streamers of red and white, the gym was transformed from an athletic hall into a beautiful and warm place of renewed friendship and happy conversation. Music, furnished by the "Midnighters," rang from the building as girls and boys swirled to the music and added to the beautiful pattern of red and white. At one side of the dancing floor sat the Queen and Court. Queen Jeanne was honored and began the Queen's dance with her escort. The Court then joined them, and the exciting evening was brought to a thrilling climax.

Truly one of the most memorable occasions in Northeast's history was Homecoming, 1961.

CHEERLEADER

MARGE SCHWARZBEK

"Our school spirit is tops at home games, but it could be improved a great deal at away games." This statement was made by junior cheerleader, Marge Schwarzbek in regard to NeHi's school spirit.

Marge lists skiing as her favorite hobby. Other likes include the book, Lost Horizon, the magazine Seventeen, and the comic strip Peanuts (especially at Halloween), and the record "Wonderful-Wonderful" by Johnny Mathis.

Throughout the day Marge may be found in English III, research chemistry, plane and solid geometry, Spanish I, advanced chemistry, American history, and debate and argumentation.

Her outside activities other than varsity cheerleading include secretary of the Spanish Club and junior representative of the Romans.

In spite of Marge's hard schedule and many outside activities, she is still able to remain on the honor roll.

After graduating from Northeast, Marge will attend Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans. She plans to become a medical technician.

The following article appeared in "Tender Loving Care," the monthly newsletter of the American Legion Hospital for Crippled Children. The article was written for the October, 1961 issue by Mrs. Linnea Porter, R.N., who is the Night Nursing Supervisor:

What Is A Grenouillere?

What would you do in a grenouillere?

William Young — Sophomore: "I'd stand up and recite a poem!"

Jane Wells — Junior: "I'd wear a costume."

Wayne Wegman — Senior: "I'd put it in second and floor it."

Pete Lewis — Senior: "I'd take a girl out in one!"

Emily Owens — Junior: "I'd sit down and order something to eat."

Pat Murphy — Sophomore: "I'd paddle!"

Wayne Leone — Senior: "I'd take it to Italy and sail it in the moonlight with my best girl."

Pat Gast — Junior: "I'd open the door and walk out."

Tom Pfeiffer — Sophomore: "I'd start it!"

Kirby Tucker — Senior: "I'd flush it!"

Wade Harrington — Senior: "I'd open the hatch and climb out of the thing!"

Sue Weldon — Senior: "I'd have a roller skating party."

Diane McLaughlin — Senior: "I'd curl it and wear it as a wig!"

Have fun you all; a grenouillere is a frog pond!!

Many seniors have been visiting the college that they are thinking of attending next year. Among these are Ruth Anne Adams and Beth Curd. These girls were taken to Wesley in Macon, Georgia by Ruth Anne's parents. Both enjoyed the experience of college as well as the cold weather.

Also, Martha Bond got a sample of college life. She spent an exciting three days with Diane Kelley at Chapel Hill, North Carolina. Diane went directly from her junior year at NeHi to college. It is reported that Diane is not only having a great time, but doing quite well scholastically.

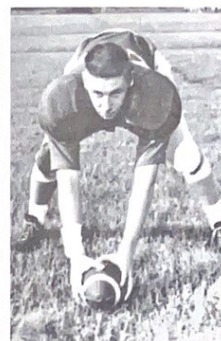

PARTY TALK

Picnics seem to be the fad at this time of year. Seen at a popular stop, having a good time in spite of the rain were Pat Behrens and Mark Hamilton, Sandy Delnet and Del Waters, Jane Anne Cordes and Eddie Stumpf, and Toni Buck and Neil Waters.

Five couples were seen at a pre-date dinner several weeks ago. They were Jim Larsen and Linda Berger, Judy Bond and Richard Coddington, Patti Henderson and Robby Amley, and Ed Olson and Marsha Howard (a darling girl even if she does go to that unmentionable school across from Triplets). Everyone complimented their host, Ed, who was the chef of the barbecue.

Four Vike Seniors Attend Insurance Course

Four Senior girls who are taking secretarial courses at Northeast are attending a course in insurance from the Insurance Institute of America. The girls, Barbara Bailey, Beatrice Harrison, Marjorie Kindel, and Vi Lundbeck, will attend classes every Wednesday evening at seven o'clock for the next twelve weeks. The course is designed for any senior girl taking shorthand and/or typing who probably will not have the opportunity to continue in college after graduation. The course does not give actual college or high school credit, but there is a certificate awarded by the Insurance Institute of America, and recognized by the insurance industry. The Insurance Women of St. Petersburg are sponsoring this course to further the understanding and appreciation of the nature of the Institution of Insurance, to enable the beginner in the field, or those who have not entered the field, to plan a more secure future, and to enable the advanced insurance students to prepare for advanced study to attain a higher designation in the industry. This course is a great honor for each girl and an opportunity for development of her skills as applied to the business world.

RICHARD CODDING

Helping to tear down the defense so George can go through is line-man, Richard Coddington. Rich, a native of Valley City, North Dakota, was born on November 10, 1944. His hobbies include all sports.

Richard may be seen making good grades in English IV, study hall, Algebra III, advanced mathematics, physiology, and Spanish II.

Going to Boy's State is his greatest thrill, while Ben Hur and On the Beach rate as his favorite movie and book respectively.

Richard and George have been an asset to our Viking football squad.
