3. Presentations:

Testing Schedule: The calendar is available in the monthly newsletter. April had our first round of testing, and 99% finished for Writing Assessment. If a student doesn't sit for Writing they cannot sit for Reading – scores are linked. May is pretty much a testing month. Testing has been split up so students do not take more than 1 test per week. The only exception is 8th grade – Pre-Algebra and Science SSA. There may be some minor movement for classroom setting to accommodate testing needs. June 3rd – 9th are final exams for classes that do not have a May exam. Finals will be based on their personal schedule. June 9th is the students last day of school, a 2 hour early release day, and Finals make-up day.

Executive order from the state regarding testing/scores, that came out on April 9th, does not affect students in a negative way. It will provide data to help guide class/educational choices in the future. EoC scores are normally 30% of their grade however the executive order states that this will not prevent them from moving forward. There is a possibility this could change in the future. Most likely will look at the results and move forward in the future. Schools can be “opt in” to be graded. The AAR dept in district will be able to crunch the numbers after testing is completed. If we want it published based on the research we can request it.
